THE 1990 LOG EDITORS AND STAFF DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO GARY LEONARD COLASANTI

August 1, 1968

December 21, 1988

Gary Colasanti graduated from Melrose High School in 1986 and then attended Syracuse University at the Newhouse School of Public Communications. During his junior year, he was accepted into the International Study Program and completed his first semester in London. On his trip back to the United States, Gary was killed in an explosion on Pan Am Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland, along with 34 other Syracuse students.

Gary is remembered by his family and friends as caring, warm, and very special. His ever present smile and unique sense of humor touched the hearts of many. Gary had a way of noticing what was important to others and doing what he could to make it better. He left us a wonderful legacy - memories of him.

Our hearts go out to the Colasanti family for their tragic loss, and we hope that this dedication will prove to be a happy reminder of times past. We thank Karyn Colasanti, a member of the Class of 1990, for providing us with this touching glimpse into the life of her brother, Gary.

As we sit down to write the theme pages, we must think back to last spring when we decided on the theme for our book. We have to remember what the reasons are for our theme of Shape Up and put them down in some sort of a coherent article. As hard as this may be, it is absolutely necessary so that others may understand our book as well as we do, and so we attempt to explain ourselves. This book has finally shaped up to what it should be: a powerful structure of history, capturing the relics of this past year and providing a sound piece of memorabilia. As the light of the real world draws near, the members of the Class of 1990 are shaping up, both mentally and physically.

The fitness craze was overpowering in the '80's and has carried over into the new decade. It seems only fitting to devote our book to the idea of shaping ourselves up in all respects. As high school students, we make decisions which shape the paths of our futures. Situations such as jobs, classes, and activities always need to be resolved, and the results create our upcoming lives in different ways. The decision to be in a certain club or play a particular sport may affect a career down the line. We must constantly be on guard to shape our lives the way we want them.

SHAPE UP

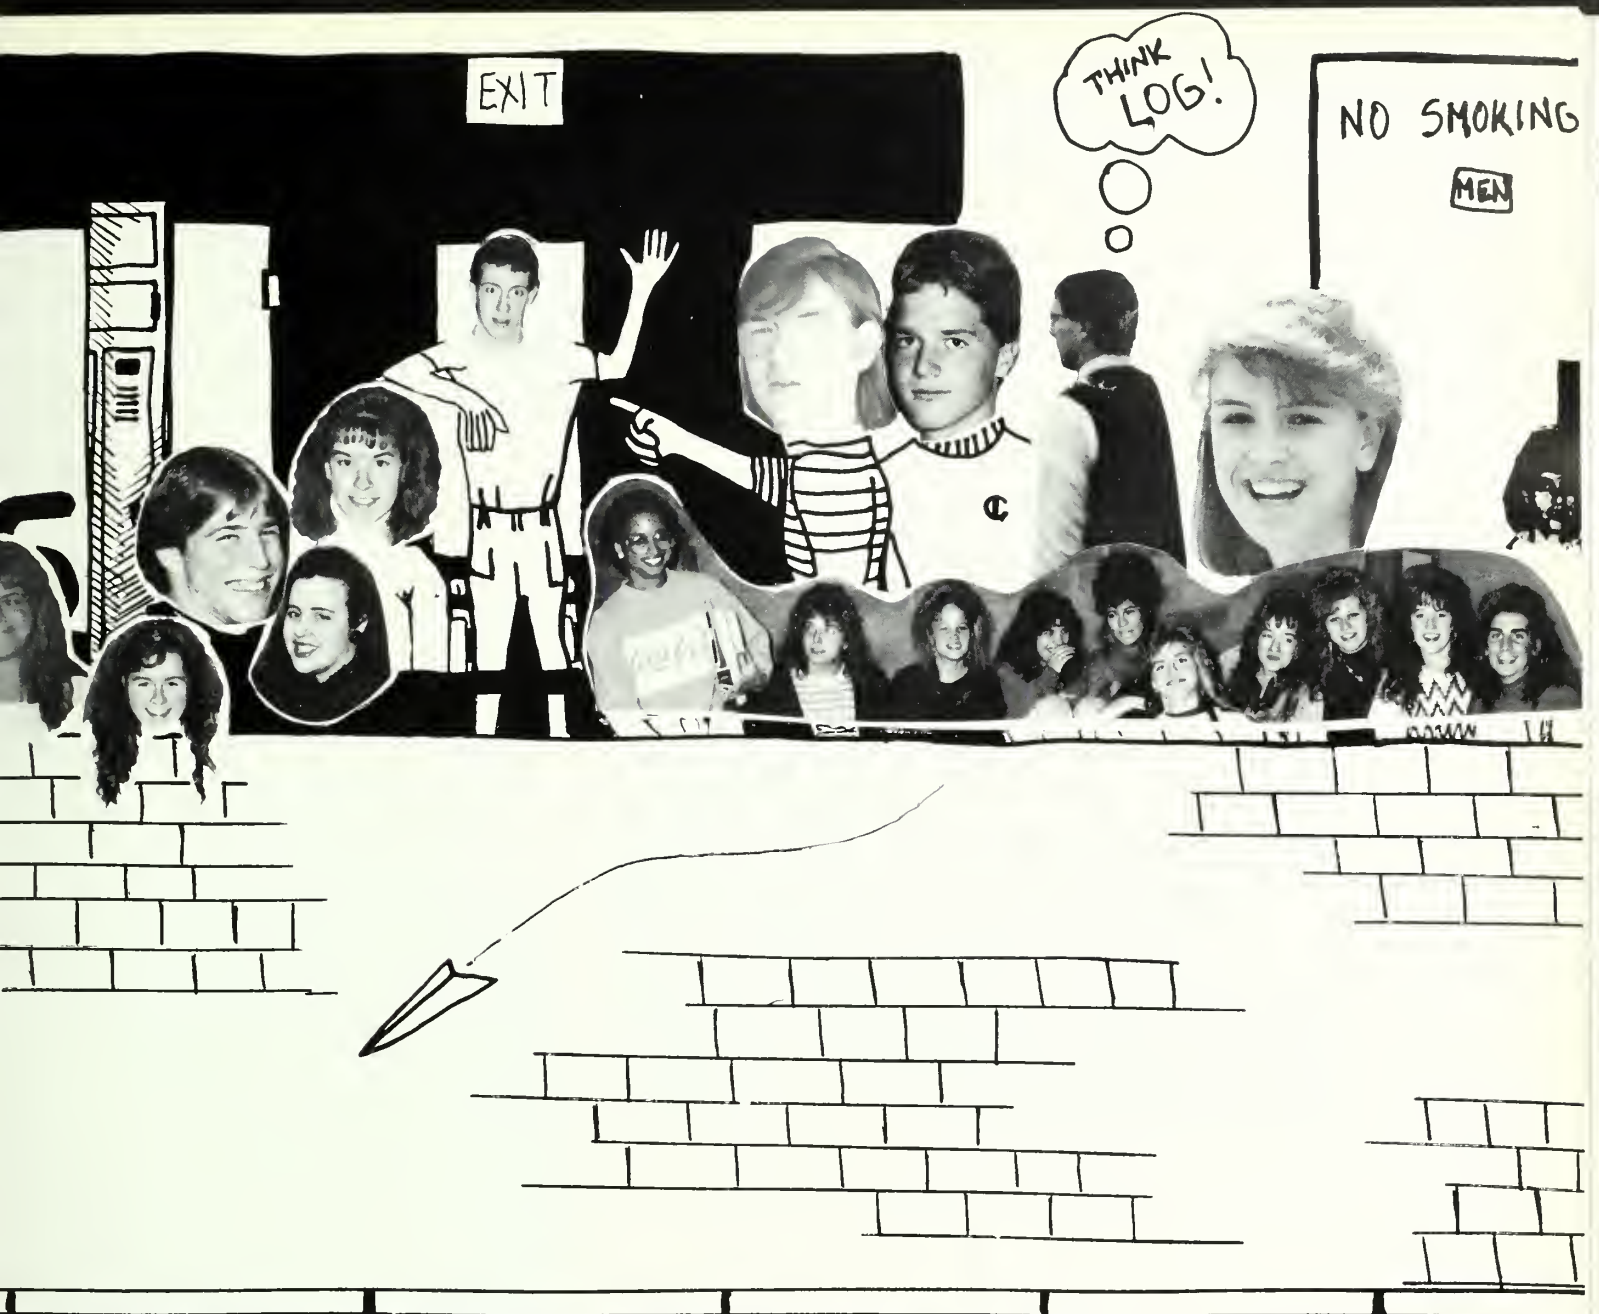

Melrose High School introduced many new ideas this year, all for the purpose of shaping up the school. For the first time, freshmen walked the halls of MHS regularly. Although everything was a bit crowded at first, the students adjusted themselves and eventually worked out their problems. A new lunch system, run by the Marriott food services, took over the cafeteria and gave faculty and students alike more variety in lunch. Food was also available in study halls up until lunchtime, with selections ranging from donuts and bagels to chips and cookies. The new no smoking law was put into effect, with very few problems. The athletic program also underwent some changes, as freshmen were finally eligible for all varsity teams. For some, this was a necessary move which had been long awaited. With the influence of new, younger blood, many teams had brighter seasons to look forward to. The worm, the product of an imaginative artist, was the mascot of the 1990 sports teams. It kept itself in shape all year long, participating in every sport possible. All in all, MHS has improved its shape greatly and will continue to do so.

Shapes are all around us, yet few take the time to examine them closely. Our lives depend on the various shapes of things in our lives. After all, where would we be if the wheel had never been invented? MHS has been criticized often for its structural design, but that is what will make it stand out among our memories. Yes, triangular classrooms and trapezoidal desks are unusual, but they just make life more interesting. In twenty years, when we think back to high school, hopefully we will remember the good times we enjoyed with our friends in this crazy, mixed-up building. This is the place where the patterns of our future lives were mapped out, where the paths of our futures were determined. The shape of our high school existence has left an indelible mark on our souls, and we shall never forget the details of these three years. That is the purpose of this book, to remind us of the times gone by and to make sure we are all that we have shaped up to be.

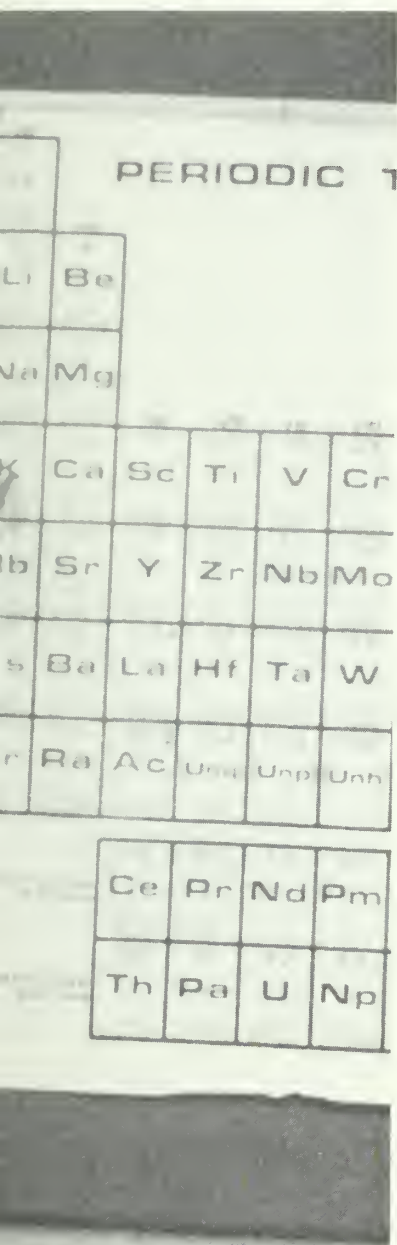

Right: " $1s^2, 2s^2, 2p^6, 3s^2, 3p^6$ and $4s^1$ is potassium," chants Mrs. Scialdoni, as she points out the elements on the Periodic Table. Above: Chris Solano counts his blessings as Mr. Hurley listens intently.

FACULTY

Teaching is a calling that's hard to do,
It involves lots of work, and patience too.
The students here at MHS
Know that their teachers are the best.
They're funny and fun and they teach us so much,
From reading to math, to music and such.
Each department has specific things to teach,
To explain as to students perceptions they reach.
In English there's Shakespeare, Longfellow, and more,
There's vocabulary quizzes and essays galore.
Mathematics can be hard, or it can be a breeze,
Though geometry makes kids smack their heads against trees.
In Science math skills are put to the test.
Studying for physics gets students' brains messed!
Social Studies classes show us the world,
As the secrets and stories of the past are unfurled.
Foreign Language teachers put up with a lot,
For oftentimes students' language accents rot!
Occupational Ed has everything it seems,
From autoshop to Child Care and everything in between.
Special Ed gives out so much time and love,
And are surely looked upon with favor from above.
Physical Education teaches health class and gym,
And the teachers participate with such excited vim.
Fine Arts has everything that art can be,
Music, drawing, painting and photography.
Of course, faculty includes so much besides this,
Like Guidance counselors, nurses, and principals don't miss.
The point being, each and every day one of them is A hard-working, dedicated, Faculty Wiz.
Everyday we see them as they strive
To shape our hopes, dreams, and future lives.
With knowledge, morals, and memories we've been filled,
Thank them for being there, shaping up our skills.

Although she has what may be called the worst job in the school, Mrs. Fisher thoroughly enjoys being the secretary in the second floor office. "I like to work with young people."

Mrs. Fisher, a graduate of Lynn Classical, feels that the class of '90" has been a very good class. She finds the students very respectful and has enjoyed watching them mature over the last three years.

Asked how she shaped the lives of the class of '90", she said that her advice not to be late and to avoid suspensions has been helpful. Even though she has to deal with all the problems that arise in the daily business of MHS, Mrs. Fisher is glad that she has had a part in the development of the class of '90".

Can I go to guidance? How many times have you asked this question in the last four years? The answer is probably unable to be counted. But why? Why does one go to the guidance and who are these counselors anyway?

Mrs. Kodgiz, the head of our guidance department, can only be described like all others, as dedicated. This woman, who enjoys traveling, reading, and boating on the Cape, attended Boston University of Liberal Arts for undergraduate work and then went onto receive her masters degree at Boston College. Since then she has done additional work at UMass Boston and Salem State. Starting out as a teacher, Mrs. Kodgiz enjoyed working with young people and eventually wanted to be on a more personal level with them. Therefore she gave up teaching and became a guidance counselor. As a counselor, she feels it is not her job to shape students' lives but to help them to shape their own lives. Her favorite characteristic of the Class of 1990 is their ability to be a class with unity. She wishes good luck to the senior class in the future.

Growing up in the Depression and seeing that teachers at that time had a steady job and good clothes is what shaped Mr. Frank's career as a teacher. He attended Boston University and received his Master's degree at Bridgewater State. He served in the army for two years and has been teaching for thirty-five years, thirty of those years here at M. H. S..

Mr. Frank enjoys politics and states that Jesse Jackson is the greatest living American today. He would like to see an active debating team again at M. H. S. and weekly assemblies to keep the school "together." Mr. Frank rates the class of 1990 as one of the best in comparison with the class of 1969. He will always remember the class of 1990 as a kindly class. To the departing seniors he leaves these words from Booker T. Washington:

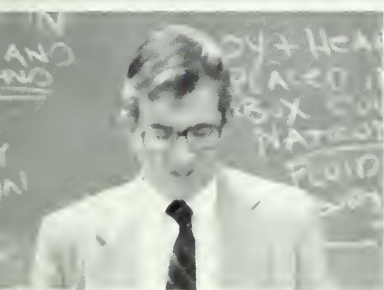

"Don't measure your success by how far you go but by the obstacles you've had to overcome."

"Motivation is the key to success in both school and life." This is the main idea that Mrs. Fran Sanford tries to get across to her student. Her goal is to motivate her student to break the cycle and do something with their lives. She feels that they are on the brink of a new horizon and that this time is a fantastic opportunity to grow and change with the world.

Mrs. Sanford has degrees from Boston University and Northeastern University and is currently enrolled in a management program at Leslie College. She enjoys taking courses in different subjects and furthering her education. She wants to remain in education, maybe as a director of special education. She likes to spend time visiting with her children and learning about their professions.

Her most vivid memory of the Class of 1990 will be the apprehensions at the arrival of the ninth graders, but she thinks that everything has worked out nicely. She believes that the Class of 1990 is eager to become involved in the real world and be exposed to new things. The quality of education has to be good in order to keep up with other countries, and she feels that M. H. S. has lived up to these standards. Mrs. Sanford has really enjoyed working with the students of the Class of 1990.

ENGLISH

"Striving to do what is best for M. H. S. students and their community, enthusiastically and effectively," is how Dr. Gordon E. Wood describes himself. Dr. Wood has been a teacher at Melrose High School for eighteen years and is presently the Head Teacher of the English Department.

Born and raised in Springfield, Dr. Wood attended Brown University as an undergraduate, earned his master's degree at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, and received his doctorate in education from Boston University. Dr. Wood has also been awarded a Certificate of Advanced Study by Harvard University. In his spare time, Dr. Wood enjoys going to the beach and to the theater. He also likes to read and to go ballroom dancing with his wife.

"The most significant influence on my decision to become a teacher was, in fact, my junior-year English teacher in high school. He was a dynamic, fiery guy," Dr. Wood recalls. Dr. Wood also confided that that teacher's alma mater was Brown University, to which Dr. Wood was encouraged to apply.

Even though Dr. Wood has not really been too close to the Class of 1990 before this year, he will remember this year's graduating class as being very versatile. "The Class of 1990 is very talented and many of the seniors are, indeed, unique. The class has athletes, actors, musicians, and they are all good at what they do."

To the Class of 1990, Dr. Wood offers the advice that its members continue to see the people around them and the world at large with open minds, without bias or prejudice.

Learning from Mrs. Dooley involves much more than the foreign language curriculum. Best known for her outgoing personality and sense of humor, Mrs. Dooley creates a classroom environment where students are encouraged to work hard while enjoying the light side of life. Her quick wit keeps students interested in what they're learning.

Besides humor, Mrs. Dooley values other qualities and believes that teaching her students honesty and respect will help them become better adults. She realizes that most students will not choose a foreign language major in college, and so she emphasizes other benefits from travel to business use.

Mrs. Dooley enjoys teaching the Class of '90 because she says they are a bright group who share her own values: hard work and humor.

A graduate of University of Massachusetts at Amherst and Middlebury College, Mrs. Dooley spends leisure time traveling, doing needlework, and attending school sporting events. Her top priority, however, is her baby daughter who is now "teaching" mom all about parenting.

"Believe in yourself, no matter what happens, good or bad, because with faith you can do anything at all!" Mr. Melvin wants the Class of '90 to hear and believe his advice. Mr. Melvin, who studied at the University of Wisconsin and at Salem

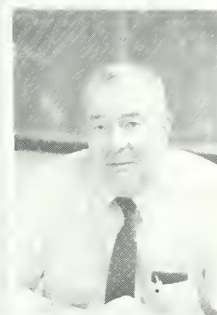

State, has taught for 15 years, including his six here at MHS. The relationships he builds with the kids here are important to him, and he enjoys listening to them as much as they enjoy listening to him. "They keep me young by reminding me of what I used to do," he explains.

Mr. Melvin sees the graduating class as a happy, funny, close-knit class that is prepared for college and understands the world around them. He believes that the kids are open-minded and listen well, which is important to their abilities to learn. "Being able to learn opens up all the possibilities of the world." He also notes that the Class of 1990 is a partying class, from what he hears on Monday morning!

Mr. Melvin is a busy man, from teaching, to coaching various wrestling, track, and baseball teams, to bringing up his 3 year-old daughter, Jenna. He will remember the joy this class gave him in getting to know him these past 3 years.

He hopes he has made these years happier and more fun, and hopes he has prepared them for their future as a loved and respected teacher of MHS; it's definite that Mr. Melvin has done that.

Everyone always wants to know about Mr. Reilly, and finally he has revealed some things about himself. A graduate of St. Louis University, he has been teaching at Melrose High for "too many" years. He tries to make his class interesting by signing lab reports in Arabic and telling stories about his trips to chemistry conventions in Geneva, Switzerland, where he spends all his time swimming in the lake instead of at meetings.

When asked about his favorite thing of the class of 1990, Mr. Reilly said that he likes their cooperative spirit and their sense of humor. His goal in teaching chemistry is "to leave students with a sense of awe of the universe around them and an appreciation for clear, scientific and logical thought." Outside of

ORGANIZATIONS

What are you doing? What kind of shape are you in?
Going home after school, it's close to a sin!
Why sit on your butt, eat, and watch T.V.?
Get out of your shell and join an activity.
Think there's nothing for you? You're probably wrong.
There's definitely a club to which you should belong.
The clubs are all different, but with the same thing in mind
To learn and have fun, all at the same time!
There are lots that have music, here are a few -
Orchestra, band, chorus, and the jazz/rock crew.
Some deal with money and politics and such,
Like Law Club or Investment Club or those with a pecuniary touch.
But if you're most artistic, there's even more
With photography, drama, Imprint, such creativity in store
But if you like to think and really use your brain, There's National Honor Society and Chess Club, your mind they will strain.
Don't forget language clubs, there are exactly five,
All their foreign-based parties are really alive.
And a myriad number of clubs are in action
Where their greatest desire is to help those in affliction
There is Project Bread, Amnesty, and anti-driving SADD
Poverty, drunk driving, and unfairness makes MHS students mad.
So there's just an idea of what school activities are Events that come from them really go far.
The start of this school year was slow for us all
All the clubs started at a very slow crawl.
But soon they were kicking, acting up in the school
Shaping up MHS to something ultra-super cool!

Student Representative To State House

STATE REPRESENTATIVES

Student Advisory To School Committee

The Student Advisory to the School Committee holds a big responsibility to the students of Melrose High School. Discussions with the School Committee pertain to school functions, policies, and on anything that would affect other students. Josh Almond describes the committee as "my way of serving the students of Melrose High School." Discussions at the meetings cover topics from school alcohol policies to school dances. Mr. Hasset and Mrs. Eason help guide the Student Advisors in their quest to better our school.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

What would you do with $2000? That is the question with which the School Improvement Council is confronted and the money is not as easy to spend as it appears. The purchases must benefit the entire school, not just one particular group. Together with the parent representatives, the two students must decide for what purpose the money is to be used, and then their proposal must be approved by the School Committee. The ideas this year included new Nautilus weight equipment, concerts and new books for the Resource Center. Although the original plan submitted by the students was rejected by the School Committee, the current version is on its way towards final approval.

SENIOR CONGRESS

The Student Congress is made up of representatives from each of the four classes. The students meet frequently to plan such social events as the proms, the Jr. Winterfest and the Winter Ball. Other events such as the Special Needs Christmas Party, the Blood Mobile and Carnation Day are also sponsored by the Student Congress.

Not only does the Student Congress plan the social activities of the school, but they also deal with issues such as the smoking policy and the drinking policy of the school. Representatives from each class attend the school committee meetings each Monday.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The goal of many students is to become a member of the National Honor Society, one of the most prestigious organizations around. Belonging to this shows others a commitment to scholastic achievement, and the members strive to uphold the four main values of the Honor Society: scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The NHS is involved in many activities around the school, including fundraising by means of a raffle for Project Bread. Another facet of membership is the donation of time to free tutoring for whoever needs it. The members are often sought out for the use of their academic ability.

THE IMPRINT

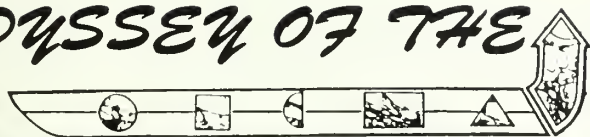

"What do you mean I had to cover that?" "Articles due when?" "WE NEED IDEAS!" Ah, yes. A day in the life of the Imprint staff. But regardless of all the little things that went wrong, the school paper was printed faithfully each month. Although the budget was tight and time limited, the staff did a good job letting students know what was happening in and around MHS. Articles ranged from movie reviews to student polls to news about school events. All the time and energy that the staff has put into creating the Imprint has made it a big success.

Odyssey of the Mind, a creative problem solving competition, has existed in Melrose for several years, but this year for the first time, MHS boasts two teams in the high school division.

One team is working on a problem called "Geographic Odyssey, while the second is confronted by "Classics: The Seven Wonders of the World".

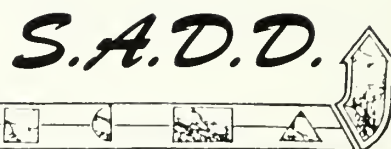

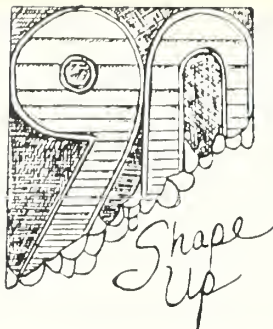

After almost qualifying for the world competition last year, both teams are eager to work hard and qualify this year.

One of the more intellectual organizations, the Chess Club, is alive and well, and looking forward to yet another year of intense competition. The members seek to perfect their skills and are constantly challenging one another to grueling battles of the mind. With the new blood in the club this year, some interesting matches have been played, and there promises to be many more. The members are always ready to play, and whenever they have a chance, they take out the board and start the clock. When was the last time you played a good game of chess? Join the chess club and become a master of strategy.

Students Against Drunk Driving is the largest and most popular student organization at Melrose High School. S.A.D.D.'s main goal is to keep students from drinking and driving. They passed out Dum Dum lollipops the day of the Senior Halloween Party with the slogan "Don't be a dum dum." They also had anti-drinking and driving posters around the school at different times of the year. Around prom time they had special assemblies for both the junior and senior classes. S.A.D.D. is by far the most caring and helpful group to Melrose High students.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty International is a political group dedicated to the freedom of prisoners of conscience. Participants in Amnesty International write letters to foreign heads of state whose countries are holding prisoners of conscience. This places pressure on the leaders of these countries and eventually forces the release of prisoners. Amnesty is well known for its Conspiracy of Hope tour, in which Bruce Springsteen, Sting, Tracy Chapman, and other musicians took part to help raise money for Amnesty International. With the effort and determination of Amnesty, a great many lives have been saved.

PEER LEADERSHIP

The small, not so well-known Peer Leadership program of last year has sprouted into a bigger and highly acclaimed organization. Forty-nine students and their advisor, Mrs. Andrea Taffe, make Peer Leadership what it is today.

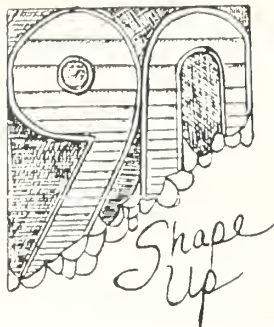

Students begin the Peer Ed. program by learning communication training, active listening skills, and value clarification. They then devote their time to cross-teaching, and preparing and delivering lessons. "Our main goal is to help friends. Either our high school friends, or our younger friends from the middle and elementary schools" says Mrs. Taffe.

Along with helping friends, Peer Leadership has been a part of the social activities in M.H.S. Two dances with a "toxic free" theme, and "Eddie", a production concerning alcohol abuse, were just examples of Peer Leaderships contributions to M.H.S.

A future plan of the Peer Leadership program is to establish a place called "home". This place will help others meet their emotions. A place where people could talk with a friend about their concerns. It will also be a place to dispense information and give resources for additional help.

The student government sponsored its 25th bloodmobile in December, and once again it was a huge success. Due to the organizational efforts of Jackie Parker and Mark Sarazen, students and faculty members donated a total of 50 pints of blood. The members of the Melrose Chapter of the American Red Cross were delighted by the number of first time donors. Although some of the students who gave blood found the experience to be a little overwhelming, most were grateful for the chance to help others. The problems they had giving blood were worthwhile, since their efforts could save a life. Another bloodmobile was held in April, with the same enthusiasm generated by all the participants.

The incentive for joining the Junior/Senior Forum usually is "what a good way to get out of Mr. Frank's book report!" That's what the feeling is at first, and how the juniors get involved. But they find it so fun and pleausurably educational that they stay with it through senior year when Mr. Frank's book reports are no longer a threat. Dedicated, intelligent and kind adults devote their Thursday afternoons to debate with the students. They discuss any issue, whether local national, or international, political, moral, or environmental. Here students and members of the adult community can get together and share their knowledge and feelings, while learning more about each other in the process. So pull up a chair, ask Mr. Frank for the gavel, and be chairperson for the debate (as the chair goes to a new person every week). Members of the Forum vote on each week's topic and study it the week before. No one should miss this opportunity to increase their awareness and broaden their views.

Project Bread, an organization which raises money for those who are underprivileged, has a wide following here, and teachers and students alike do quite a bit of fundraising throughout the year. Some of these annual events, were a bake sale, a raffle and movies. Taking the initiative, a group of students got together and sold chocolate covered candy canes, bringing in some extra money to add to the already large total. With the assistance of other groups around the school and the community, such as the National Honor Society and the Financial Board, the Project Bread group raised a lot of money to benefit those in need.

PEP CLUB

Pep Club: 1st row: J. Doohier, M. Betrino, E. Sierick, Am. Tedeschi, C. Sarno, E. Moretti, K. Dolan, E. Hannabury, K. Dolan, E. Hannabury. 2nd row: B. Mason, M. Gorman, L. Diamond, C. McLaughlin, M. Redmond, S. Blacklock, K. Cargill, T. DiBlasi.

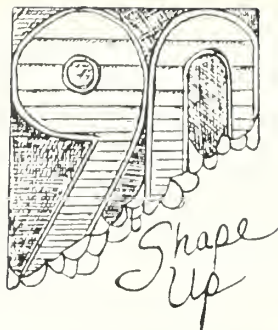

The 1989-90 Pep Club started off with a bang and continued to run strong throughout.

With the largest number of members the Pep Club has seen in years, it has been a tremendous success in support of the athletic program.

From the football team to the golf team, the Pep Club was there to motivate the teams for their upcoming battles.

Often overlooked, the Pep Club is a major contributor to MHS team spirit. By making posters, and decorating for rally, this group has proven itself to be an essential ingredient in the make-up of the school.

This year's officers include co-presidents Megan Rose and Colleen Ryan, vice-president Kim Jones, treasurer Joanne Nelson, and secretary Mark Gindi, and who can forget the advisor Mr. James Hodgkins, for his undying enthusiasm toward the Pep Club.

This year marked the beginning of the largest drama club in years. Director Cornelia Beliveau was ecstatic about the amount of talent that came to the door. The fall saw the production of Never Mind What Happened, How Did It End?, followed in the spring by Hide and Seek, with two casts, one to perform at the Massachusetts Drama Guild Competition, and the other to understudy and also perform for the school.

Very quickly the Drama Club became a family, very close knit and hard working. Along with set, lighting, and sound crews they have worked and played together, radiating astounding talent and a beautiful love of theater.

Although their size is decreasing somewhat, the quality of voice in the MHS Chorus is definitely on the rise. Members enjoy being in Chorus partly because of the many field trips taken in order to give concerts.

The Chorus trip is always a memorable experience. Nobody will forget the great times and sunburns they had from last year's trip to Florida and Disneyworld.

The annual musical is one of the most demanding and rewarding parts of the year. The Chorus will always remember the great times of past musicals and hope there can be many more in '90's production of "Damn Yankees".

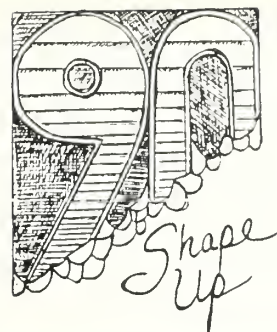

Chorus: 1st row: C. Ferrara, L. Vuilleminot, B. Rogers, C. Sarno, S. Blacklock, M. Tura, A. Gonsalves, P. Sheehan, M. Wilson, T. Barnes. 2nd row: D. Orben, H. Scarramoza, J. Winslow, P. Oliveira, J. Da, Da, La, La squeek! AAH! Wrong note! It does not happen often but once in a while someone in the orchestra hits a wrong note. Led by Mrs. Weeks, the orchestra had a great year. They gave their annual winter and spring concerts, and they also performed at the reception for the German exchange students. Besides playing in their usual concerts, they performed with the MHS band for the first time at the 1990 Play-a-thon. The orchestra and band were combined and brought to life such songs as "Peter Gunn" and "Russian Sailors Dance". This play-a-thon was a fundraiser for the annual trip, this year to the Bahamas, which was to be taken by both musical organizations together for the first time.

JAZZ-ROCK BAND

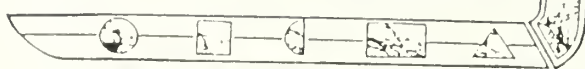

Jazz-Rock Band: 1st row: T. O'Regan, C. Himes, M. Redmond, D. Lucas, N. Dike, R. Tulipanie. 2nd row: S. w, C. Boutwell, B. McHugh, C. Cipriano, T. Hober, C. Deane, M. Fortune.

What so you get when you put some trombones, trumpets, alto tenor, and baritone saxophones, a keyboard piano, bass guitar, and an electric guitar together? Give up? The MHS Jazz Band. After all those Tuesday night practices the jazz band's efforts pay off with a spring dance starring the jazz band. Their songs range from "In The Mood" to "Centerfold." Led by Mr. DeGiacamo, or "Mr. D" they perform at the dance with several great musicians and play music enjoyed by all.

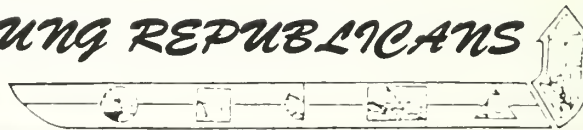

This year the MHS Law Club was open to all seniors who take law as a class. The members made a trip to Superior Court with Mr. Brown to witness a criminal trial. In addition, the club sponsored a career day in May. Representatives from the legal profession, various courts, and government agencies visited the school to discuss job opportunities. This club helps students understand more about the legal profession and encourages them to enter the law field as adults.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

In the fall of 1989 several students organized a Teen-aged Republican Club, led by the efforts of its president, Liz Vagianos.

The goals of the Melrose branch of TARS are to bring about more political awareness in their fellow students and to open up another, more conservative viewpoint to the student body.

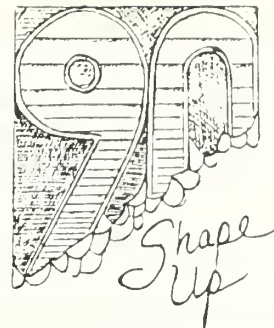

The club gets very active in Massachusetts politics, working on campaigns, attending local political functions and rallies, and holding debates. TARS has also welcomes several guest speakers to MHS.

If the Melrose Teen-aged Republicans can get one message out to their classmates, it is this: you are the future, get involved!

FINANCIAL BOARD

The Student Financial Board is designed to help the school distribute money to finance various activities and events. The students choose for what purpose the money in the activity fund is to be used, and how much is allotted to each event. They deal efficiently with whatever financial problems concerning the student body arise during the school year. As chairman of the board, Mr. Croston assists the students in making tough executive decisions and also approves their suggestions. This organization gives members a chance to learn how to balance finances before they enter the real world.

Financial Board: 1st row: S. McKinnon, B. Chin, B. Tryder, J. Brown, M. Crowley, R. Rocha, T. Hurley. 2nd row: Mr. Croston, K. Gorman, K. Jones, J. Nelson, K. Ferullo, L. LaMarca, R. Gibbons, G. Helein, A. Marchi, N. Palladino, J. LaRola.

INVESTMENT CLUB

Mr. Hasset invests his time and energy into the new club dedicated to helping young minds gain insight into the stock world and all its potential. The student responsible for getting everything started is the club president Sanjana Kumar. Members are working vigorously on gathering money to invest in the stock market. Club member Gina Helein exclaimed "It's fun learning how to invest our money." Knowledge gained in the club will help these young investors for years to come.

Investment Club: 1st row: B. Gray, M. Crowley, M. Finocchiaro, G. Helein, S. Kumar, M. Tulipani. 2nd row: M. Twist, Bowden, S. McKinnon, Chadsey, D. Kroon, E. Burke, Mr. R. Hasset.

MAKING DIFFERENT SHAPES

Led by drum majors Dave Lucas and Keri McCracken, the Melrose High School marching band had one of its greatest marching seasons ever. After having practiced the entire week before school started, the band continued to do so every day during A-block, Monday night, Thursday night, and Saturday throughout the marching season. All that practice eventually paid off, however, when it was time for competitions.

Two of the three competitions in which the band entered were run by M.I.C.A. (Massachusetts Instrumental Conductors Association) and the third was sponsored by N.E.S.B.A. (New England Scholastic Board Association). At the first competition, held at Wakefield High School, Melrose got a bronze medal and an overall rating of three stars out of five. Their production at the N.E.S.B.A. competition in Haverhill earned a final score of 69.9 out of 100. The final competition was their greatest performance yet. In the huge field at Sullivan Stadium in Foxboro, the band received a silver medal and an overall rating of four stars.

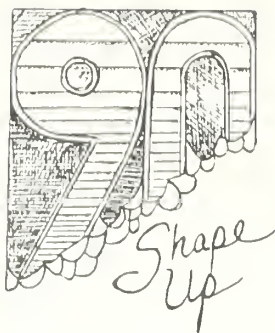

Throughout the year, music from the band was heard at football games and parades. A special performance was given at a music festival in the Bahamas, during their annual trip in April. However, the success of the band was not only due to the efforts of its musicians, but also to those supporters behind the scenes, whose help was vital.

MAJORETTES

After last year's win in the Class "A" Championships of the New England Majorette Association (NEMA), the Melrose High Majorettes moved up to the "Open" Class Competition, which requires more difficult twirls. The majorettes must twirl for 3 1/2 - 4 1/2 minutes and may dance or use props for one minute. Diane McCarthy choreographed a winning routine for the majorettes. The team is young this year with six sophomores - Bethann Galvin, Jenn Frongillo, Alison Lavender, Kate Pacheco, Joyce Stavro, and Lesley Vuilleminor; one junior - Becky Stavro; and one senior - Captain Dee Collins. The majorettes are committed to providing exhilarating performances at home and away football games alike.

Under the direction of co-captains Cindy Mader and Kim Jones and coach Diane McCarthy, the colorguard has had yet another successful season. Their hard work in perfecting their routine paid off in two bronze medal performances and a silver medal performance with a final rating of four stars at the MICA competition. Their fun and exciting year was a result of their dedication to learning their new routine, which this year included a dance.

Soaring into the 89-90 school year was the Melrose High Aviation Club. Many excursions were planned by the club at the beginning of the year. "We want to go skydiving and hanggliding," said club member Ed Guirola, to go along with the flying the club has already done. The love for flying is shared by all members and club leader Mr. Dodge. Future goals for the Aviation Club are aimed sky high.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Led by a most excellent teacher, Mr. Squatrito, the Photography Club is a group of individuals who imprison time in a rectangle. Students develop their own negatives, enlarge their work, and mount their photographs for exhibition. Certain projects such as renderings and collages are included in the club's program.

The German American Partnership Program (GAPP) has taken place every other year since 1975. It is an exchange between MHS and Gymnasium Oberalster, a school in Hamburg, West Germany.

This year, just under twenty American students took part in the program. It was possible only through the hard work of Dr. Phyllis Dragonas, who organized everything from partnerships to field trips.

The students enjoyed school sponsored trips to places such as the North Shore, Sturbridge Village, and the Freedom Trail, to name just a few. They also participated in many outside activities with their partners, namely parties, trips to Boston and just hanging around.

Everyone had a great time this year and many new friendships were created. The group is very excited about its trip to Hamburg in the Spring.

Matt Stavro, a participant in the 1987-1988 GAPP program, was very thankful that he had this chance. "My experiences in Hamburg, Germany, were some of the greatest in my life. Nothing can be compared to spending five weeks living with a German family and going to a German school."

The Spanish Club, although getting off to a late start, planned many great events for this year. The first was a make-your-own taco party. Under the supervision of Mrs. M Romano, President Sheri Alessandro, Vice-President Chris Boutwell, Secretary Jeanette Ingalls and Treasurer Bob Gray made plans for a Mardi Gras and a volleyball tournament with the other foreign language clubs. With the enormous amount of members the Spanish Club will have a productive and fun year.

As everyone recalls, all clubs and organizations were off to a late start this year due to teacher contract debates, but the French Club is kicking in and raring to go. Events planned include a volleyball tournament with rival foreign language clubs, French dinner parties, and the spring Mardi Gras. The club will learn more about French culture and customs, and enjoy the civilization of the country whose language they study.

Much love and appreciation go to Mrs. Dooley, who takes time out of her hectic schedule to organize and run the French Club. She is aided by President Justin Carter, Treasurer Meridith Wilson, Decorative Secretary Kristen Aloï, and Corresponding Secretary Paula Oliveira.

Est-ce que vous aimez les choses francaises? Venez! Check out what the French Club is up to now. Many spirited and involved students are working together to give the club a year to remember.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club has typically been very small due to low German enrollment, but this year the numbers seem to be growing. Under the leadership of advisor Mrs. Isaacs and President Pollyanna Squires the club has scheduled several parties, as well as a night of skiing at Nashoba Valley. They also have sweatshirts with the Hamburg town symbol on them. With all this, plus the German Exchange happening in the spring, it should be quite a year for the MHS German Club.

German Club: 1st row: A. MacDonald, E. Russell, Secretary J. Bernadakis, President P. Squires, Vice President M. Stavro, Treasurer T. Hober, J. Hagen, J. Philley. 2nd row: C. Maffeo, M. Hazard, S. Zielinski, A. Zwimer, B. Mason, C. Broberg. 3rd row: J. Stavro, K. Reynolds, G. Drake, K. Daniels, G. Silva.

ITALIAN CLUB

Ciao Italia! President Mario Finocchiaro, Secretary Christine Felice, Treasurer Marianne Brazzo and Art Director Greg Eppolitti planned many great activities for the Italian Club under the supervision of Mrs. Cocchiara. The first was a make-your-own pizza party which was a great success. A pasta night and Bocci tournament were also planned for the club. The club is designed to shape up the students' awareness and introduce them to the cultures of Italy, which it most certainly does.

Italian Club: 1st row: J. Parker, E. Porter, G. Eppolitti, President M. Finocchiaro, C. Felice, N. Palladino, A. Marchi. 2nd row: S. Donohoe, P. Joyce, L. O'Brien, A. Alfano, S. Sarsfield, J. Baldi, M. Ricupero, K. Fowler, D. Rinaldi, A. Finocchiaro. 3rd row: B. Burke, J. Juliano, J. Sciascia, M. Cirrone, S. Alessandro, P. Santagate, D. Wharton.

LATIN CLUB

With one of the largest memberships in many years, the Latin Club has planned a fun-filled year of activities. The annual Latin-Italian pizza party was a big success as usual. Members in togas paraded around at the carnival and enjoyed some semi-authentic Roman foods. Once again the club entered a team in the Language Club volleyball game. The members of the club have proved one thing: Latin is not a dead language, at least not in Melrose.

Latin Club: 1st row: M. Galvin, Quaestor M. Rose, Consul A. Murphy, Consul M. Kossuth, Aedile S. Kumar, M. Jendrysik, D. St. Amant, K. Lennon. 2nd row: A. Alfano, M. Gillis, N. Magnasco, B. SPORTS

A graduate of Suffolk University, Mr. Ellis "Sonny" Lane has taught a variety of subjects in the past, including social studies, basic skills, social problems, in-school driver's ed., special needs, and physical education. His extensive coaching background covers sixteen years of junior varsity football, and seventeen years as head coach of Wakefield's varsity basketball team. Under his guidance, the team won twelve championships in seventeen years. Mr. Lane gave up all this for the position of Athletic Director at Melrose High, a job he has held for three years now. Since his whole life has been devoted to the pursuit of athletics, he fits perfectly into this position. He welcomes the opportunity to support every sports team any way he can, and hopes that the members learn something about good sportsmanship and teamwork while at MHS.

Mr. Lane wants to be remembered as an inspiration to the Class of 90. He has a few words of advice for them to carry with them after graduation. "Listen to your family and friends, but ultimately make your own choices that will make you healthy and happy." He encourages individuality and hard work, and is impressed with the student body's great spirit and togetherness.

Besides the time he dedicates to making the athletic program at MHS the best that it can be, Mr. Lane enjoys watching professional sports, playing bridge, and especially playing golf.

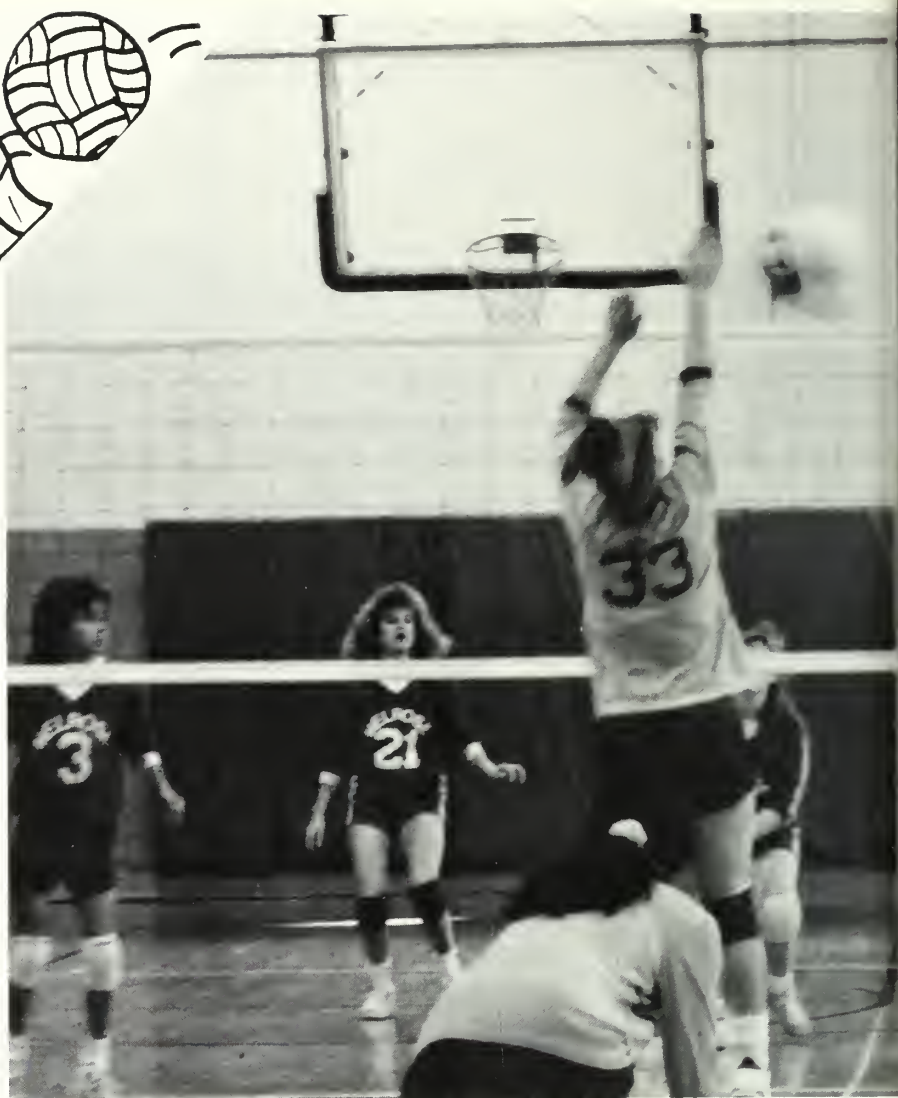

The Melrose Girls Volleyball team established a new record this year for winning spirit! Faced with a number of hardships, the girls rose to the challenge with energy and enthusiasm. With only one returning varsity player and a captain sidelined for half the season, it looked like it would be a tough year. Nevertheless, the girls gave it their best and won four games — a new record.

Starting with double sessions in August, the team practiced long hours to perfect their bumps, sets, and spikes. They suffered many close losses, especially to Masconomet (the number one team in the league), but by the end of the season the team showed great progress and an unbeatable spirit. Their steady record of improvement is expected to continue next year. The outgoing seniors wish the best of luck to next year's team!

Continuing the tradition, the golf team had yet another winning season, captained by Brian Healey, a three year member of the team. Although during the past few years the team has been good, Healey predicts that the underclassmen will do even better next year.

Although the golf season has come to an end, the team has many memorable moments that include Healey-the null & void captain, one less BK run Thanx Kirby, Joe-shut up!, Fudd & Mace - the foundation of the future squad!, P.J., Murph, and the two week dips, Jimbo's trusty #1 iron - longer than Nate's drives but straighter, Where's Muse?, You do not have to scream Coach, we're right next to you!

Girls Swimming

The Melrose High Swim Team was co-captained by Jo-Ellen Ferguson and Michele Hughes. The swim team would like to thank Coach Richard Whitworth and Coach Zanita Smith for all the time and effort that they put into the team. The captains would like to thank the Melrose Y.M.C.A. for use of their pool.

Whether in or out of the the pool they will always remember the following: The famous sleep-over, back-rubs, switch (sorry Lindsay), Put your goggles on Joe- you're swimming, Come on Jen, let's get serious, Boy its cold in here (Michele), Beamin, Team Steams and those great chats.

The seniors would like to wish the underclassmen on the team the best of luck with school and the swim season.

The girls' cross-country team had one of its most encouraging seasons ever this year. Despite their losing record, the Raiders were much more competitive in the middlesex league than they have been in several years.

Senior co-captains Michelle Littlehale and Dayna Scribner were plagued by injuries, but many of the younger runners made important contributions to the team. In her first season running cross country, junior Jen Peters surprised many people by winning three dual meets and being named a Middlesex League All-Star. Perennial top five runners Kristen O'Hare and Katie Woods, both juniors, made great contributions, as did sophomores Amy Dion and Linda Cerreto and freshman Jenna Libermann.

Next season could prove to be an even better one for the team. Only two seniors are being lost, and the remaining top seven are now experienced runners. Everyone on the team is proud of this year's accomplishments, but also anxious to better them next year.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

This year was one of highs and lows for the boys' cross-country team. Senior co-captains Bob Cargill and Brian Gonsalves, as well as senior Chris Brauer, displayed excellent leadership, but the young Raider team was only able to win three meets while losing six. Team goals had to be reassessed after an opening loss to an unexpectedly strong Winchester team. Melrose also lost a close meet at Belmont (26-31) which proved to be a turning point in the season, and the following week and take the top eight places versus Burlington at home.

Despite the inconsistencies of the season, there were many high points. Team unity was extremely prevalent. And coaches Kevin Allison and Ralph Hannabury were key parts of the Red Raider effort making themselves available to the team at all times for any concerns, athletic and otherwise. Also, hope was seen for the seasons to come. Sophomore Bill Porter had an excellent individual season, winning six dual meets and being named a Middlesex league all-star. It is also encouraging that five other top seven runners will be returning next year. They are juniors Tony Babcock, John Baldi, and Greg Drake and freshmen Patrick Lynch and Bryan Walsh.

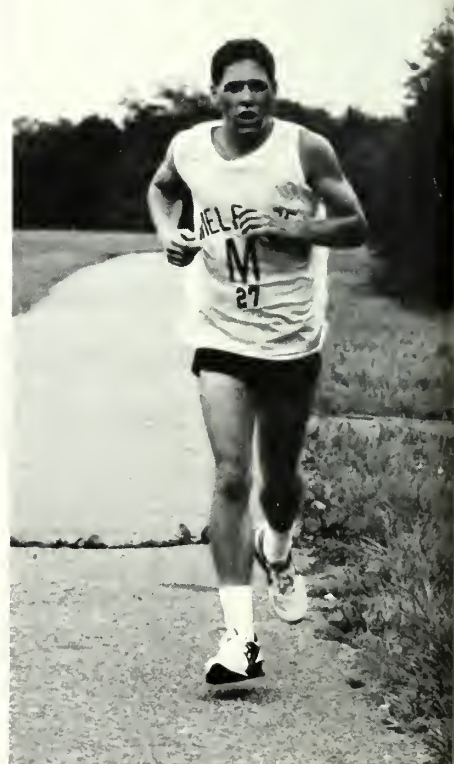

There is definitely room for improvement on this team, and thanks to great coaching and dedicated runners this is bound to take place.

This 1989 season was the best ever for the girls' varsity soccer team. Not only did they win their first game, but they also won three others and tied two for a final record of 4-12-2. The most impressive game was the 0-0 tie against Wakefield, the former state champions. Melrose finally proved that they were a force to be reckoned with. This was a season full of firsts for Melrose. It was Winnie Cartin's first year as varsity coach, the first time freshman were allowed to play for the varsity team and the first year of a J.V. team. These changes brought nothing but good to the team, finishing with its best record ever, and hopefully are indicative of more improvements in the future.

The team has many fond memories of choppin' broccoli, J.V. and orange peels, PEDESTRIAN-AAH!, great bus rides with great bus drivers, the par course, superdrink, and food fights. Thank you Winnie and the Green Machine.

Everybody on the soccer team will remember runs through the forest as the lazy days of summer made way for double sessions. Puddle sliding turned rainy day practices into fun practices. The warm days brought thoughts of green slush to the team members. In order to accommodate for their extra energy, they often engaged in towel fights and shower sliding. The 0 and 0 tie against league power Lexington was the most spirited game of the season. Coach Mike Kennedy and assistant coach Paul Cunningham helped keep attitudes positive and led their team respectively to a 3-15-2 season. The boys' varsity soccer team would like to thank Dave Mackey and Eli Turner for being there when they needed extra captains. Special thanks go to Coach Mike Kennedy, assistant coach Paul Cunningham and all the loyal supporters of the varsity team.

Field Hockey

This years field hockey season was filled with many highs and very few lows. The high spirits and great attitudes that were showing during the first few weeks did not fade because of a few losses. It just made the girls even more determined to prove themselves, and that they did. On that crisp, clear October night, under the lights in Wakefield the team put everything they had ever learned together for the best game of field hockey they had ever played. This was the turning point, when everything seemed to click. The scoring continued, 2 in Wakefield, 0 in Reading and finally a 3-1 win over Woburn in which Cammy Ahern scored all 3 goals. This was probably one of the most memorable seasons for coach Jan Johnston, and definitely the most fun for her and her tri-captains Noelle Rowe, Donna Bushee and Kristi Sampson. The team will always remember brunch (brown eggs), Tping with help from Hilda, stuffed shells and ziti, Adopt a Sophomore/Freshman, the playground at Lexington, Tee-shirts, Edie from Brookwine, food for the bus, rag sessions (Crash and Erin), pumpkins and the banquet.

Many said that the 1989 Red Raider football team wouldn't go very far because of the loss of great players like Joe Mercer, Rich Green, Carl Cheney, and the rest of the great linemen. But fortunately for the Raiders, none of these distrusting people played on the team.

The Raiders did go far in 1989, and they did it with their own great players like linemen Brian Gallucci, Ward Hamilton, Jeffery Irvin, and Capt. David DiGangi, who proved that even without lots of experience, they were still one of the best lines Melrose has ever seen. Cornerback Bob Camelio had a great year in the secondary for Melrose. All Scholastic running back Scott Sciretto and fullback Peter Tighe supplied the relentless ground attack, while Shaun Morgan and Ray Rocha, who combined to be the most unstoppable receiving duo in Melrose history, ruled in the air.

Next year the Raiders will be led by tight end Capt. Howie Eddy, linebacker Jim Murphy and quarterback Andrew Mcneily, all of whom started and excelled in the 1989 season.

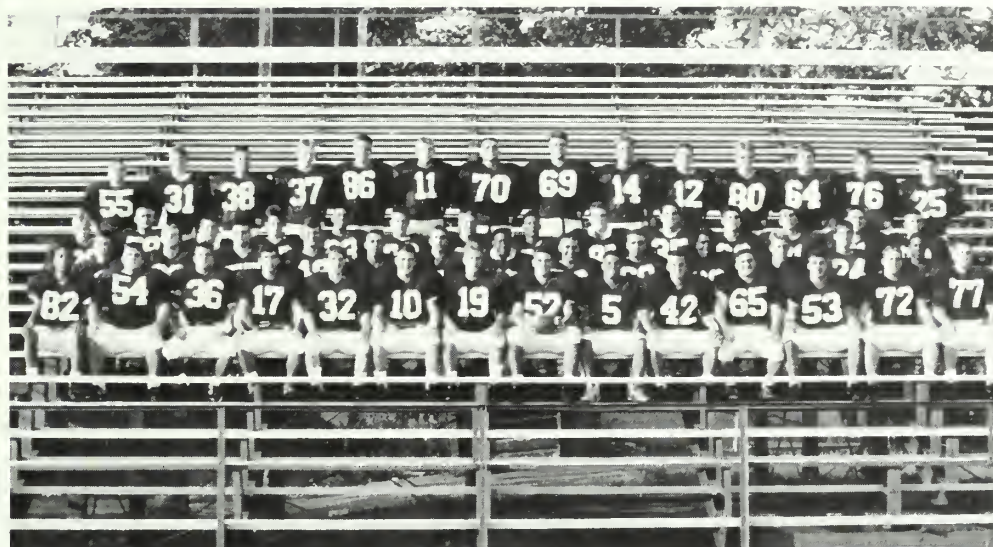

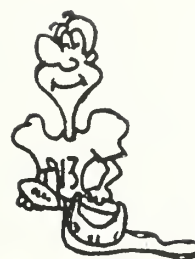

Melrose's 7-3 season was highlighted by a victory over Belmont, 22-8, in a game of high emotion, hard hitting, and grind-it-out football. The 1989 season also had its down points, including two tough losses, a close one to Woburn and a down-to-the-wire loss to Wakefield on Thanksgiving. But the most tragic occurrence this season was the loss of one of the team's best players, Jason Buggy, to mono early in the season.

The seniors extend their deepest thanks to the coaches and good luck next year.

The spotlight is on the cheerleaders, performing in front of hundreds of people at every game and cheering at all the pep rallies. They provide enthusiasm for the audience with their spirited rhymes and hand-clapping rhythms. The football team appreciates the girls' confidence and energy that drives them to victory. However, the seemingly effortless maneuvers that the cheerleaders perform at every game are the result of a lot of hard work, perfecting difficult pyramids and memorizing the numerous cheers. To master cheerleading takes confidence, grace, coordination, and determination, but the girls love what they do. They've had a great year, shaping the football spirit at MHS, and next year will continue their great traditions. The graduating seniors thank their coach Joan Leeman for her dedication to the squad, and wish the best of luck to those who will return next year.

The spirited squad of soccer cheerleaders were an inspiration to the boys' soccer team, even when the game was lost. Although the boys did not fare as well as they had hoped, the girls always provided support for them and gave them confidence in themselves and their ability to play. Under the guidance of their coach, Teri Jackson, whose help was greatly appreciated, the team practiced hard and often to perfect their encouraging cheers. The graduating cheerleaders want to wish the best of luck to all the girls who will continue to hold the pom-poms high next year, after they have left the soggy soccer fields. However, they know that they are going to miss cheering greatly, and will treasure their memories forever.

OFF WITH A SPLASH

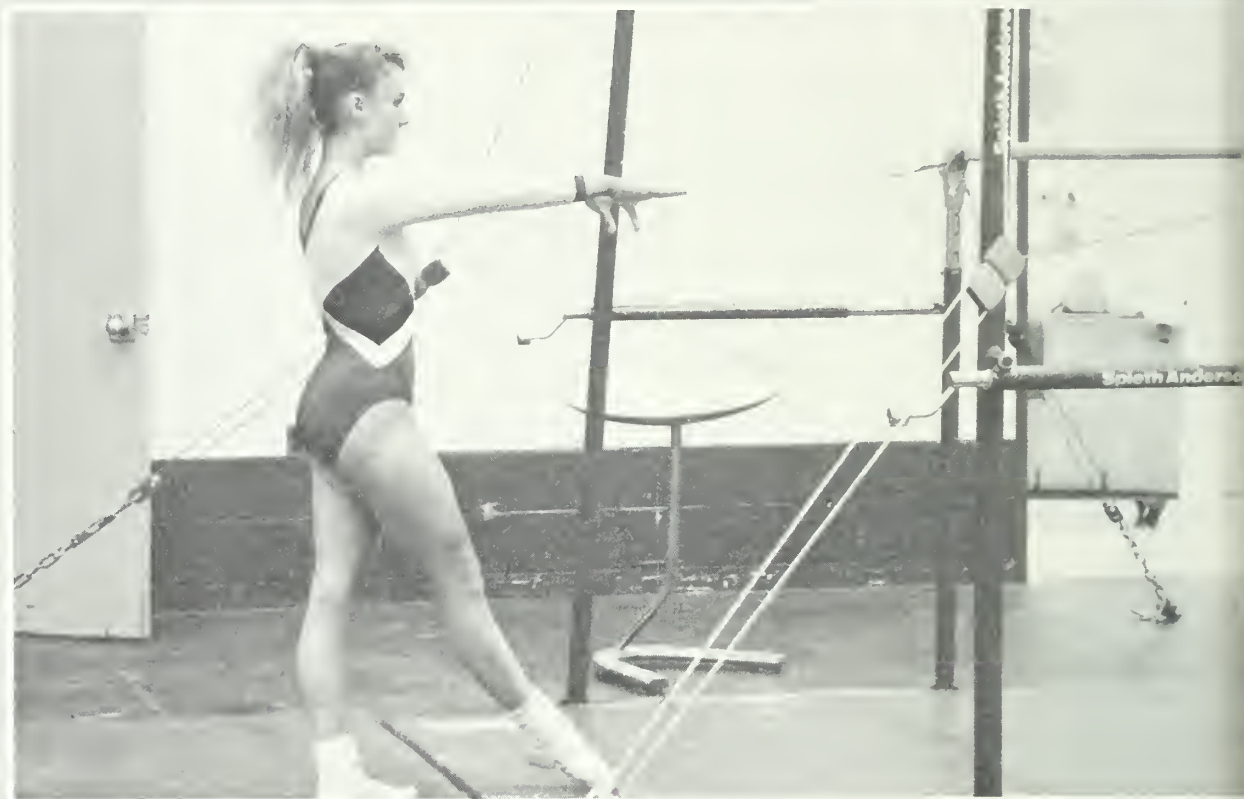

Mr. Grant has described this year's swim team as "surprisingly good despite the record, lacking in depth and experience, but nonetheless good." Good indeed, five swimmers out of twelve went on to sectionals and Junior Dave Cuttino will swim against the top swimmers in the country. This year's boys' varsity swim team finished the 1989-1990 season in great shape. With a three-four-one record (two-two-one in the league), the season was filled with many exciting meets that were very close. One of the year's more energetic meets was against Belmont, which ended in a tie, only the third tie in Mr. Grant's twenty-one year coaching career. Providing leadership for the team were senior co-Captains Mike Hazard and Steve Cinella. Other senior members this year included Keith Costantino and Josh Almond. Mr. Grant was assisted by Linda O'Koniewski who is in her fourth year as assistant coach. The swim team wishes good luck for the future to all underclassmen and both coaches.

TWO STRAIGHT IS GREAT

The gymnastics team had another tremendous year, repeating as the Middlesex League Champions. This is quite an accomplishment for the girls considering the fact that the team was made up of no seniors, just one junior- captain Kristin Dolan, and the rest sophomores and freshmen. But this did not seem to matter to the girls, as they tumbled their way to the top of an undefeated season under the coaching of Carla McCormack.

The girls felt that their whole season was great, but their best meet was against Reading, because there were hardly any faults. They are also looking forward to next year's season; with the whole team returning, they hope to repeat as Middlesex League Champions for the third consecutive year.

AIMING HIGH WHILE STAYING LOW

The past season was one of rebuilding for the MHS wrestling team. After losing nearly ten seniors, the Raiders had only four varsity starters returning.

Among these was junior standout Jim Bleiler, the team's captain. Not only did he provide strong leadership, but he also placed well individually in several tournaments. Also contributing to the team were junior Tony Babcock and, suprisingly, Charlie Tedeschi, a freshman wrestling for the first time.

Due to some great coaching and recruiting by Coach Frank Smith and Asst. Coach John Sullivan, the team has many younger members. This year they mostly gained experience, both mental and physical. Beginning next year, however, the Raiders can start the long climb back to the top of the Middlesex League.

NEVER SLIPPING UP

The sound of the sharp skates cutting into the glistening ice as the Melrose Varsity Hockey team glides out to start another game seems to echo the sound of nervous excitement in the hearts of all the players. Under the direction of Coach Umile and his assistant Coach Abbott, the team set up a grueling schedule of drills, exercises, and scrimmages that whipped the team right into shape. They had a spirited, fun-filled season, led by co-captains Marc Cirrone and Brett Tryder. The seniors, despite the various injuries which plagued them, were very involved in the pursuit of another league title. Their hard work paid off as they gained a berth in the tournament for the fourth straight year. Though a lot of talented "big guys" will graduate this year, there are already young stars arising from the underclassmen group. Shaped up for a winning season, our team gave it all they had, and as Melrose continues to win, the fan support at the games will keep on growing.

NO LOSS IN EFFORT, ENERGY AND EXPERIENCE

Although the team did not quite live up to the high expectations it had before the season began, it still accomplished a great deal. With only six returning varsity players, four of whom saw time as starters the previous year, the team had to rely on the skills of the new members. Their inexperience showed in their record, posting only a few wins. However, this did not reflect the extreme effort given in every practice and game. The retiring seniors leave a legacy of hard work and determination to the younger players returning next year, who include four freshmen, two sophomores, and five juniors. Even in the most hopeless of games, no one ever stopped trying, and that is the type of attitude that Coach Matt Gianatassio encourages in his players. The biggest problem that the girls faced was trying to play four full quarters of hard, aggressive basketball. Somehow, there was always one little stretch where they weakened, and this resulted in many close games without a win. Those who criticized the team's ability to play never realized that regardless of the score, Melrose was always in the game until the buzzer sounded. As frustrating as this season was for the players, the next few years look promising, and although the seniors will not be around to reap the benefits of their hard work, they wish the best of luck to the underclassmen. Someday soon, Melrose Girls' Basketball will prove that it is a force to be reckoned with.

SHOOTING FOR THE TOP

The roar of the crowd, the excitement of the cheerleaders, and of course the TEAM were all components of the MHS basketball season. Led by co-captains Sean Morgan and Jim Slattery, the team had an outstanding season, with only a few losses. For the fourth straight winter Melrose made it into the state tournament, clinched by a 75-62 win over Burlington. Even though the Raiders weren't on home ground, they were able to pull off the most important win of the season.

The team was able to stand together when they had to face the unbeaten Watertown team. But this team would be squashed again by Melrose in their second meeting. When all was said and done, the season was a success. The team learned to work together and get through what they had to do to stay in the running. Without the dedicated leadership of Coach Papas, who won his 200th game this season, the team would not have had such a successful year.

OUTDISTANCING THE REST

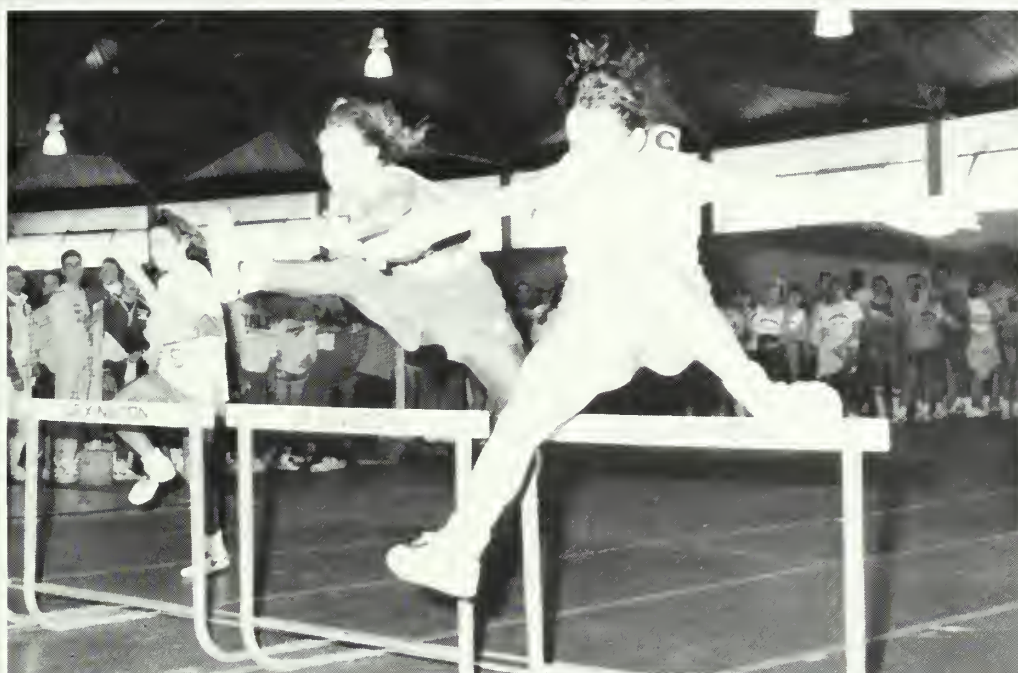

Although it doesn't necessarily look it on paper, the 1989-1990 season was a successful one for the boys' indoor track team. This year's team scored many more points than teams in recent years have. The Raiders were almost always "in it" until the end. There were several reasons for this change. One was great senior leadership combined with some surprising young talent. Co-captains Bob Cargill and Evan Liberman helped lead the way, as well as seniors Rob Pelham, Brian Gonsalves, Chris Brauer, and Roger Orben. Some young talent included next year's co-captains Greg Drake and John Baldi (who was unfortunately injured for most of the season), as well as sophomore Bill Porter and freshman Pat Lynch.

Second year coach Bob Maccini was a big part of Melrose's success this year. He instilled within the team a new attitude. They are no longer content to be the "losers of the league"; now they have a greater desire to win than they have had in many years.

The girls team also experienced a great deal of growth, nearly doubling in number. Tri-captains Michelle Littlehale, Dana Scribner, and Kathleen Gorman were a big help to the younger members of the team by lending them the tools of their experiences. Among the young talent of the team are next year's Co-captains Alison Durant and Erin Lynch, as well as Jen Synott and Kelly Kimball, were a happy surprise to the Coach, qualifying for the States in their first season of track. Next year should be a great start to a whole new decade of Melrose Indoor Track.

BASKETBALL CHEERLEADERS

It's halftime, and the Melrose High basketball cheerleaders jog onto the floor to perform their awesome routines. Led by co-captains Leanne Cronin and Jean MacDonald, the squad practiced their hearts out to master various pyramids and execute tremendous cheers. Under the leadership of advisor Mrs. Leeman and helper Leann Sacherski, the squad dedicated lots of time and effort to raising the spirits of the crowd and perfecting their superb exhibition routine. A basketball game just would not be the same without these energetic cheerleaders.

Captains Leanne Cronin and Jean MacDonald have a few words for the squad: great x's w/ B-ball boys & bus rides; best x at Belmont w/ Winchester wrestlers; nvr 4get cheers at Burlington - oops!!!; Watertown game - the best!; exhibition practices - nvr ending; "I want it this way." Oh, well, it was fun. Thanx for the memories, girls - Amy, Liz, Bridget, Carrie, Jen C., Tara, Jenn P., Jeanne, Heather, Jenn O., Chrissy, Kendra, Jenn H., Gina. Good luck next year. Don't worry, Chrissy, J.R. will still be here. Keep an eye on J.M. and B.F. for us. Thanx again - we luv ya!

HOCKEY CHEERLEADERS

As a rousing "go red!" echoes through the ice skating rink we see the Melrose High School Hockey Cheerleaders rooting on their team. Under the leadership of co-captains Jackie Parker and Jennifer Murray the squad of sixteen seniors, juniors, and sophomores has cheered the hockey team on to a successful season. With Mrs. Scarr as an advisor the group has mastered various cheers, as well as developing a dance for an exhibition. The encouragement by the cheerleaders not only boosts the hockey team but it also arouses the crowd. No matter what may happen on the ice the cheerleaders are there to offer support. Congratulations, Jackie, Jenn, Nicki, Elisa, Jessica, and Michelle. It has

Above left: "Look, no hands!", exclaims Elisa Russell as she sits contently upon the sturdy shoulders of Nicole Pothier. Above right: Showing off her puffy sweatshirt, Jessica Screnci watches Jackie Parker prepare to play "leapfrog". Right: "Ouch, that's my squash you're sitting on!", shouts Jackie Parker as Jennifer Murray smiles eagerly in hopes of getting down quickly.

Falling beneath the .500 mark with a 9-11 record, this year's varsity softball team still accomplished many of its goals. Coach Don MacLeod was satisfied with the play of all the members, especially the freshmen. This was the first year freshmen were allowed to play at the varsity level, and the older players welcomed the additions. The freshmen were the key to several of the team's victories. The best game of the year was the 3-0 victory over Watertown at Watertown, where the team worked together to defeat one of the best teams in the league. This was a building year for girls' softball, and the experiences of this year's season will greatly improve next year's hopes for a spot in the tournament.

Highlights of the season included: Gretchen, Kerri's party, sliding practice, MADaM, snow at Tewksbury.

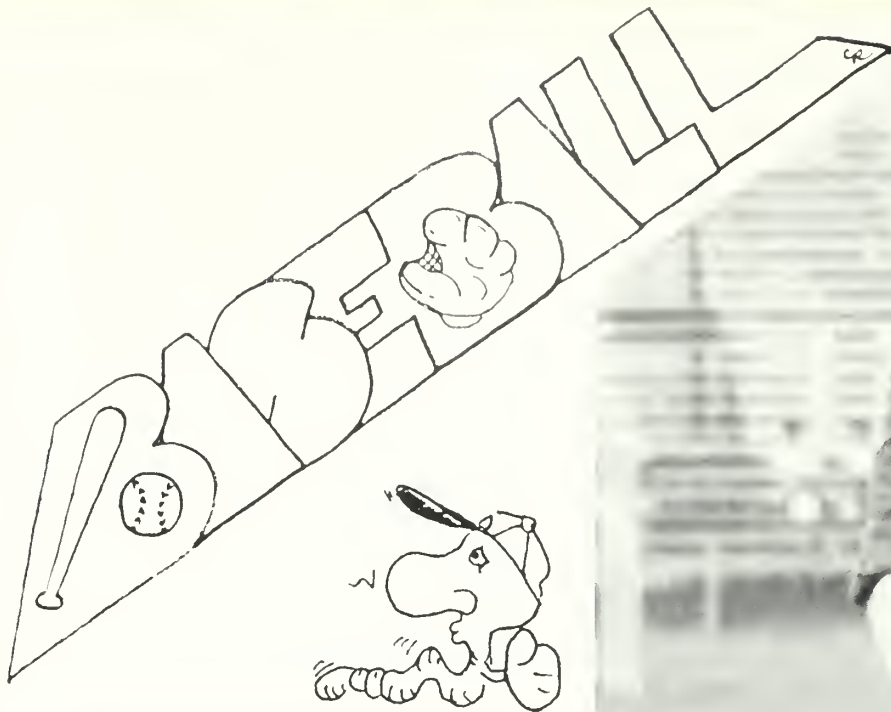

Top: Try as she might, this runner will never get to base on time. Mary Beth Kossuth is in control! Center: Hoping for a home run, Michele Tura is all reved up to go. Bottom right: Let's go ask Kim Butcher what was so funny!

John Brickley, a former Texas Ranger, had a great first year as the varsity baseball coach at Melrose High. With some powerful players such as Russ Lunn, Rich Green, John O'Brien, Terry Hurley, and captain Brian Crovo, Coach Brickley was able to lead his team to a very successful season.

The team appeared a bit sluggish in the first half of the season with only 5 wins and 4 losses. Things seemed to kick in the second half of the season with a very respectable 7-2 record. Four members of the team were selected as All-Stars: Brian Crovo, Rich Green, John O'Brien, and Russel Lunn.

A team to be reckoned with, Melrose entered the Division 1 North finals. Although Melrose did not go all the way, it still had a great season. There is no doubt Melrose will have a great season next year, too.

Team work! The only words the girls of the Melrose High Track Team need to know. From this they not only learn but also achieve. This year the team was off to a running start. Together with their dedicated coach M. Reardon and their captains, Lisa Murray, Kerrin McQuire, and Katie Dale, the team put out their best efforts. From the hurdles to the dash, to the javelin and high jumps the team holds many memories. However, the one standing out the most is Watertown, where the girls had their big victory!

I would like to commend all the athletes on their hard work and effort throughout the season.

To the Seniors:

I would like to thank them for their dedication to the track program. Good luck in the years to come!

At the beginning of this season, the boys' track team had two goals. First, of course, was to have a winning season. The second, however did not have anything to do with their win-loss record.

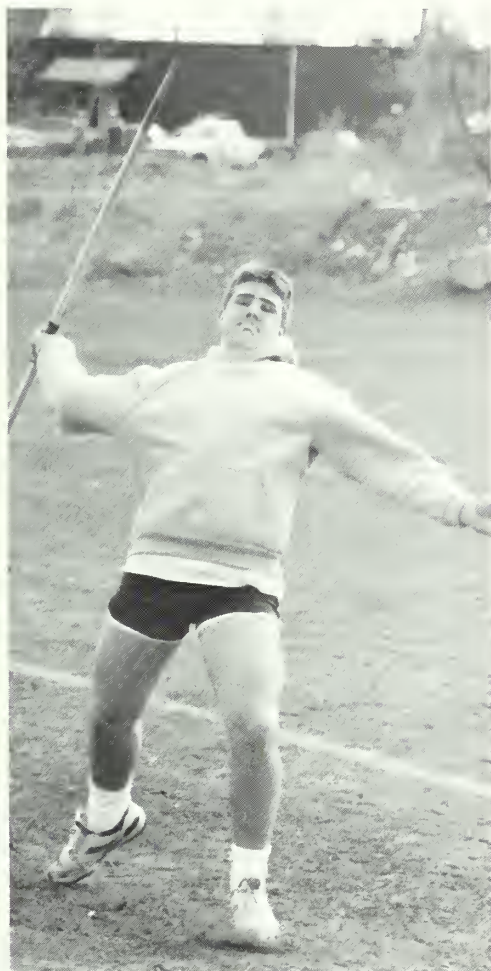

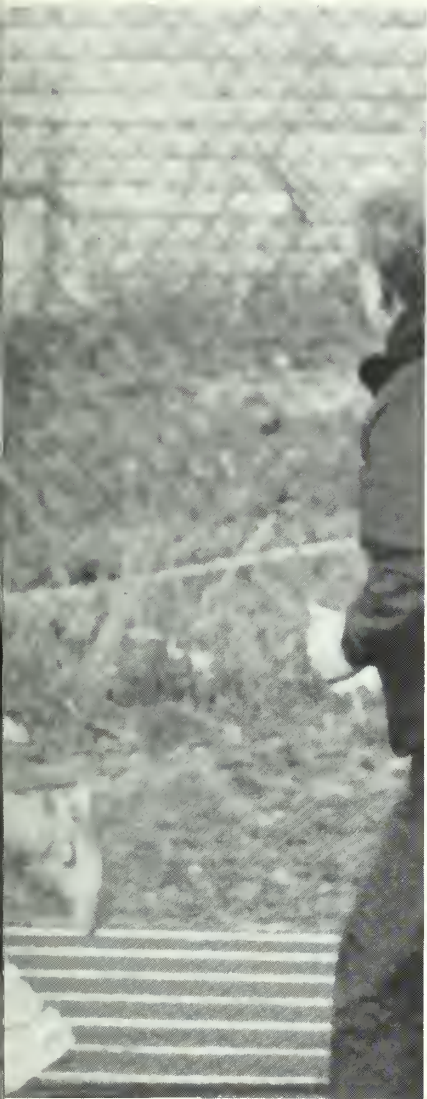

The spring track team wanted to restore a sense of pride and accomplishment to the program. Over the past few years Melrose has developed a reputation of being a bunch of troublemakers who do not care about winning. But, thanks to the dedication of the team and the leadership of Coach Morris, Coach Maccini, and captain Joe Mercer, the team has begun to rebuild its reputation. This season, the team worked harder and was more united than ever.

This unity showed in the scores of the season. While only winning two meets, the team was within fifteen points of several teams in the Middlesex League. They lost to league rival Wakefield by only 8 points and came up just 16 points short of beating powerful Lexington.

With these close meets, and the good attitude now prevalent on the team, the Red Raiders track team will have a winning season very soon. They just have to, as Coach Morris has said time and time again, "Put forth some effort".

The winning record of the girls' tennis team, one of the best in recent years, was due to the first year efforts of coach Laura Antonsicci, a tennis pro from Ipswich. She did something none of the other tennis coaches have ever done. She made the girls run. But all the hard work and conditioning paid off, especially for Kara Downing and Michele Hughes, who played their best matches against Winchester, the toughest team in their division.

Katie Bagley and Christine Felice, doubles partners, also had a good showing this season. Noelle Rowe really kept the team's spirits high as well as having a very good season.

Melrose has a lot to look forward to in the next few years from the girls' tennis team.

Having an excellent season, the 1989 boys' spring tennis team led by coach Peter Lund and captain Scott Amirault, had a 5-4 record, making it to the playoffs. In the playoffs they suffered three depressing losses, 5-0, 5-0, and 3-2. They had one win against Lexington, 3-2.

Junior players Mark Sarazen, Andy Bagley, "Jimbo" Atkinson, and Phil Lauriat, sophomore Mark Matton, and freshman Dom Rinaldi are outstanding upcoming players.

The team's two greatest wins were against Stoneham (5-0) and Woburn (5-0). The team's greatest memories were the bus rides and the "moon patrol".

this is the end of that old song.

STUDENT LIFE

Look around the school and what do you see?
Spirit, fun, and friendship; our clubs are the key.
All the world is a stage, and for three years now,
MHS is the stage where we've taken our bows.
The phrase "student life," unspecific it sounds.
But within its meaning, variety abounds.
Such a cliché it is, but yet it's so true,
There's a club or activity for everyone to do.
Do you have school spirit? The Pep Club is great,
Or get people together and have a debate.
Sing a song with the chorus, or march with the band,
Or to hungry people lend a helping hand.
Give blood, play chess, write a newspaper for school,
Or fight to make known SADD's drinking rules.
Language clubs hold such fun in store,
Parties and meetings and games galore.
There's so much to choose from, we're like kids among toys,
Each one of us decides, then joins and enjoys.
For all these clubs we work and we try,
We laugh and we play, and when tired we sigh.
But we never give in, we love them too much,
Our lives and friendships with joys they touch.
Have we ever just thought how important they are?
How they all bring our school up to par?
Though such difference lies under each club's cape
They all together make our school's ultra-active shape!

As you walk around Melrose, you notice several things. First of all, there appears to be an overabundance of pizza parlors and hair salons. Second, most teenagers believe that there is nothing to do; no movie theaters, no shopping centers, and no real restaurants. However, if you stop and think about it, Melrose is really a nice place to live. It is peaceful and safe, the ideal conditions for growing up. Everything necessary for a teenage existence is available in nearby towns, close enough to dispel complaints.

SHAPES OF MELROSE

1st DAY of School

As 7:40 AM rolls around, the bell ring to signify the end of the laziness of summer and the time to buckle down and study hard. The halls fill quickly with juniors and seniors, greeting each other with hugs and smiles. As gossip and laughter reach their peak, a warning bell peals and everybody scampers off to homeroom. This year's seniors have new homerooms to accommodate the sophomores and freshmen. They soon hear a familiar voice on his favorite toy, the P.A. Schedules are handed out and confusion reigns. They then hear Mr. Croston instructing them to go to A-block and the beginning of another school year.

Junior Prom

"You look great!" . . . "Let's dance!" . . . "Smile, say cheese!" Those were just a few of the words which reverberated throughout the Sheraton Rolling Green during Melrose High's class of '90 Junior Prom.

The class of '90 has no qualms
To say that we loved our Junior Prom.
This prom was held at the Rolling Green,
One of the fanciest places we've ever seen.
It was nothing like our ninth grade dance.
We would do it again if we had the chance.
Everyone was happy, it was fun for all,
Just ask anyone, we had a ball.
Guys in tuxes, gals in gowns,
Wall to wall smiles, not a single frown.
There was plenty of music, dancing too.
Too bad it didn't last the whole night through.
As we wished the night would never end,
We wanted to do the "Hokey Pokey" again.
Still, we had to leave on that warm, dark night,
And we rode in our limos, out of sight.

HALLOWEEN Dance '89

October 30 was a night full of fun and excitement for the senior class. The annual Halloween party was just the beginning, and this year's costumes were even more creative than last year's. Some of the more interesting outfits included Batman and Robin, the Brady Bunch, the Sweathogs from Welcome Back Kotter, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the Grim Reaper, a clothesline, Huey, Louie, and Dewey, a mermaid, and a dalmatian, as well as the usual Halloween costumes. There were some special guests at the dance; the German GAPP attended as well. The music and dancing continued the whole night. Prizes were given out to the best costumes. At the end of the evening turns were taken at the pinata, and it was finally broken with a few minor casualties. A great time was had by all, as the first official function for the Class of 90 drew to a close. The prizes were given to the following people; Ray Rocha as Roger Rabbit, Dawn Powers as Christmas Tree, S. Cinella, V. Lennon, P. Zucco, and K. Hembrough as the Wizard of Oz, Laurene Faiella as Dopey, Liz Porter as a witch, D. Lucas and C. Whittier as wounded soldiers, Bob Cargill as a robot and Keri McCracken as an old lady.

Screeches And Screams Of Scary Halloween:

Watch out for flying bats; baseball that is

POWDER PUFF

As the saying goes, practice makes perfect, and after a lot of hard work, the Red Devils and the White Knights took the field on Monday, October 30, raring to go. With much pep and energy, the Devils were quick to score the first touchdown within minutes of the game's start. However, the Knights soon tied the score. The game continued with both offense and defense working together perfectly. The lead was tossed back and forth from Red to White. The competition between the two teams was intense, and although there was a great amount of rivalry present, the girls handled themselves well. The Knights went ahead, 18-12, and kept the lead until the end of the game, giving them the win. Congratulations to both teams!

Top middle: Ignoring Mr. Hodgkins' "lame" call, future Patriot R. Rose sprints away, as teammate K. Downing tries to hold off J. Parker and S. Alessandro. Top left: Searching frantically for someone to pass the ball to, Mr. Maguire fades back. Center left: Coaches A. Bagley, B. Tryder, M. Carroll and M. Carney are positive that their help will lead the Knights to victory. Center right: "Hey, wait! Oh gosh, that's illegal. Did I blow the whistle?" wonders Mr. Hodgkins. Bottom right: Disagreeing totally with the call, M. Tasker argues with a stern Mr. Simonds as K. Gorman pouts in silence.

Winter Ball

It was only senior classmates,
Along with their senior dates,
Who arrived at Melrose High School
For a dance that was really cool.
Dressed to impress,
Everyone looked his best.
The DJ was the greatest;
He played all the latest.
So with our own form,
We danced up a storm,
Until this special night came to an end
For this large group of friends.

The Winter Ball has held on an unusual date this year, Thursday, January 25, 1990, the night before the English midyear exam. Despite the many protests by parents, students, and faculty, this date was kept, but that did not stop anybody from having the time of his life. Even the rain that was falling all day did not dampen the spirits of the seniors, who proceeded to dance the night away. Friends sought out friends to share a special moment or two together. Through the efforts of the members of the student congress, who sold enough tickets on the last day to prevent the dance from being cancelled because of lack of interest, the ball turned out to be a huge success and some even said that was more fun than the Junior Prom. Although this point may be disputed, no one can argue the fact that it was a wonderful way to spend a Thursday evening.

Top left: Doing their own version of Dirty Dancing, Cheryl Garrant and Steve Ziolkowski "get down" at the Winter Ball. Top right: Moving slowly to the beat of the music, Jim Slattery whispers sweet nothings to Amy Tedeschi while she smiles at the camera. Bottom left: Finally getting a rest from all their yearbook work, literary editors Mary Beth Kossuth and Kirk Ingersoll take a break from dancing so that they too can have their picture in the book. Bottom center: Uncertain of what to do, Piasecki smiles shyly as Kim Butcher tries to take the lead in their dance. Middle right: Staging their own Pepsi taste test, Brendan Friel and Chris Glendon make their choices clear. Bottom right: An angry Josh Almond shows his disapproval as Greg Doherty moves across the dance floor, his eyes set on the last can of Coke.

PROFILES

Now turn these pages, and we'll happily find,
People and memories that will all be left behind.
As we graduate we say goodbye to our life here at school,
And go on; holding onto the past is being a fool.
But it is a great comfort that we find here,
That will jog our memories and bring back old cheer.
Each classmate's face, smiling forth off the page,
Shows the dreams of a lifetime they hope to engage.
We read the names next to the pictures and recall
Our moments of joy, anger or tears with them all.
Below there are codes; initials of friends and old jokes,
Crammed into a space to be remembered, we hope.
We thank our family, friends and teachers so that they will know
How much we appreciate and love them so.
To get to the point, our profiles say it all
We try to show ourselves so that later we'll recall
All that we felt and all that we dreamed
When we thought that the future was far, so it seemed,
So enough chatter, go ahead now, take a look
At the faces of the Class of '90 here in this book.
You'll laugh and you'll cry, and you'll hold it so dear
Seeing how we've shaped up over so many years
Whether now or when we look after years have gone past,
These memories are treasures that will always last.

WE, THE CLASS OF 1990, SEE

- I, Cameron Ahern, see myself as a chronic contestant on the Dating Game.
- I, Kristen Alois, see myself holding the championship title of F.L.O.W. (Fat Ladies of Wrestling) while holding a part time job as a security guard at Crown Shoes.
- I, Caryn Amoroso, see myself married with two children while maintaining a career as a manager in a hotel or restaurant.
- I, Nick Andreortola, see myself still trying to keep up with Bob Gibson.
- I, Jimbo Atkinson, see myself trying to sink a clutch-me lapps 45 foot putt for my first green jacket at Augusta over Dan Kirby and Brian Healey.
- I, Andy Bagley, see myself living in N.Y. City, on Wall St., single, and making 7 figures a year.
- I, Tamara Barnes, see myself married having two kids, working at an art studio.
- I, James Bertincourt, see myself doing something (specializing) in something I'd like doing.
- I, Elisha Blackmon, see myself as a professional artist and veterinarian, and definitely single.
- I, Lorie Blades, see myself married with four children wishing I was back in high school.
- I, Glenn Bowden, see myself as a successful business man living large and coolin' in the crib.
- I, Leah Bowen, see myself married to Brian Milano for 15 years living in a beautiful home with 2 children.
- I, Christopher Brauer, see myself gnawing on crayons, wearing a tight white jacket in a padded cell.
- I, Joyce Brown, see myself trying to survive my marriage with an ex-Chippendale dancer and somehow maintain my sanity with my two teenage kids.
- I, Laurene Bucci, see myself married with two children with a career as a schoolteacher (second grade).
- I, Colin Buckley, see myself as a successful actor who has won (an Oscar, an Emmy, a Tony, or a Grammy-check one).
- I, Jason Buggy, see myself marrying and divorcing rich women on the weekends. During the week I relax by their pools.
- I, Kerri Burke, see myself travelling all around the world and married with 5 kids.
- I, Donna Bushee, see myself a successful businesswoman living in Marblehead and single.
- I, Kimberly Butcher, see myself not married (because I can't stay with a boy for more than three months) and will probably be on my 200th.
- I, Bob Camelio, see myself a successful businessman, but still immature.
- I, Christopher Campbell, see myself wallowing in the gutter scrounging around for dimes to buy a bottle of cheap wine.
- I, Bob Cargill, see myself still a kid at heart with a love for Chevy's and rock-and-roll, and at least 1 or 2 children (hopefully 1 boy) and a beautiful wife in a happy little house in the country.
- I, Justin Carter, see myself RICH after 10 years of delivering babies, and living with my gorgeous wife the lawyer and two (maybe three) sons who live to play hockey.
- I, Monica Casey, see myself recently married, working as a hotel manager in Colorado.
- I, Pamela Castillo, see myself married to a lawyer while I am a famous nutritionist with no kids. (Happy.)
- I, Paul Castro, see myself married with no children and I have my own business.
- I, Derek Chadsey, see myself deep in the mountains of N.H. or VT. running a business. It should make me feel as though I'm in heaven.
- I, Bandy Chin, see myself married to a great wife, with a son and daughter, while pursuing a career in engineering.
- I, Steven Cinella, see myself owning a chain of dress clothes stores and married with two kids living in Beverly Hills.
- I, Cheryl Cipriano, see myself as a happily married professional choreographer and dancer.
- I, Mark Cirrone, see myself as a clothing designer with my extensive line of T-shirts and sweatpants in stores everywhere.
- I, Dee Collins, see myself running a business up in Maine with my cousins.
- I, Dawn Connolly, see myself financially set, married to Tim McGibbon with our two children living a fulfilling life.
- I, Ann Connors, see myself winning the Nobel Prize in economics, being crowned Miss Universe, and being a world famous opera singer.
- I, Kelly Cordwell, see myself single owning my own multi-million dollar company in California with a house in Beverly Hills.
- I, Keith Costantino, see myself as a successful corporate lawyer in the hub of New York City.
- I, Mark C. Crowley, see myself as a managing director at a major NYC investment bank, making a six-digit salary, and cruising the streets in my Jaguar.
- I, Aimee Dalton, see myself as a naval doctor, happily married, and raising three lovely children.
- I, Linda Deleire, see myself owning a mansion in California with one child and married to a millionaire.
- I, Michelle DelRossi, see myself married with hopefully a very successful business.

BIG THINGS COME IN . . .

We were looking forward to our last year of junior high—the "rule of the school" as ninth graders; but then the system changed. The sixth graders moved up, the junior high became the Middle School; and surprise, surprise, we had already spent our last year there! We were now a part of MHS—the beloved freshmen. We were the underclassmen—way under. Although a little apprehensive about being the youngest people (no, we are not so little) in the school, having the sophomore class move up with us was no consolation. Some of the mighty tenth graders were our brothers and sisters and some siblings even had the same teachers. "Don't I know your sister," was a common question heard. The work was a little harder, but, hey, we are in the High School now and we should be able to handle it.

The high school building was a little to be reckoned with. Thanks to an extra three hundred students, the halls were packed and we were blamed for it. The open space was a tad confusing and room 487 was nowhere to be found. At least we had our own lockers.

We didn't always remember our double labs and the food at lunch was not quite gourmet, even so it still was a great year.

Top left: Trying to create a different angle for the camera are two very original freshmen, Brent Carter and Matt Roman. Top left: Taking a break in the girls' locker room, Jenna Liberman and Kate Daniels try to avoid going to track practice by having their picture taken. Left: Showing off his unusual haircut is Jon Joyce. Below: Hard at work, Kevin O'Connor tries to finish his homework before the end of study hall.

Freshman football: 1st row: F. Puppo, G. Iudice, J. Maietta, S. Texiera, S. Beardsley, K. Mallory, O. Sewell, M. Chy. 2nd row: S. Potamis, T. Cinelli, D. Catanzaro, J. Webb, C. Tedeschi, C. Magner, D. Slade, N. Giordano. 3rd row: J. McCracken, B. Bedell, A. Mastrangelo, G. Perduyn, A. Vagianos, C. Brazzo, E. Sullivan, K. Waden. 4th row: G. Wey, B. Calla, J. Knickle, D. Fortier, R. Carter, K. Drauschke, S. Galvin, T. Sullivan.

This life is yours.
 Take the power
 to choose what you want to do and do it well.
 Take the power
 to love what you want in life
 and love it honestly.
 Take the power
 to walk in the forest
 and be a part of nature.
 Take the power
 to control your own life.
 No one else can do it for you.
 Take the power
 to make your life happy.

The efforts of many people other than the LOG editors and staff members made the 1990 LOG possible. Special thanks go out to Mr. Hart, for always being there for us, and to Tenley, Ryan, and Mrs. Hart, for letting him spend so much time with us. We appreciate the help given to us by the janitors who let us in late at night on weekends to finish deadlines and lent us the vacuum, by Mr. Martin and Mr. Humphreys in the computer room, who were kind enough to print up several class lists, by all the secretaries, especially Mrs. Lockhead and Mrs. Fisher, by Ms. Arena and her friend, who got us pictures of artwork, and Mr. Bleiler, by Mr. Hurley, who made our announcements when we needed them, by Mrs. Moulaison, who let us use the WANG computers, by Glen Squatrito, who graciously shared his collection of camera lenses, by Mrs. Katz, and by the supply clerk, Mr. Wadland. We would also like to thank our yearbook representative Tom Keeley, who was always there to solve our problems. And lastly, we thank the Imprint staff for putting up with our various little pranks. Without all of you, this book would not have been complete.

What yearbook would be complete without a compiled list of memories?

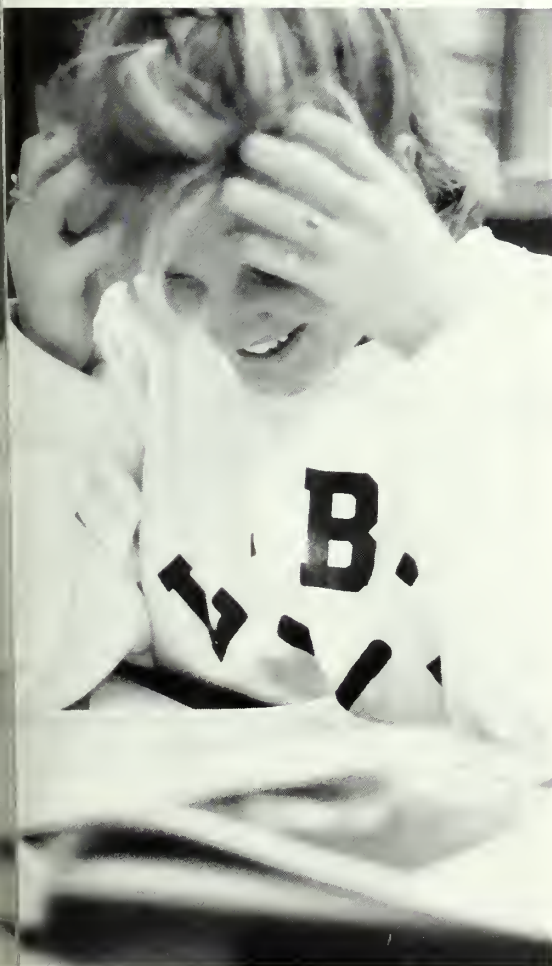

Tom "Bo Jackson" Kiwi, locking the Imprint staff in their office, who eats it?, orange grease pencils, Bust-A-Move Dave, the "Get Acquainted" dance, where's Dave? what do you mean, UVM?, faulty toilet, party in Dorm 8, someone caption this picture!, corruption of the Soloflex man and Kathy Ireland, where's Alison's face now?, Friday nights, we had a meeting?, what color film?, meet at the clock, golf pictures, appreciate these clean windows, LOG sleepover?, hide and seek with Ryan in the Resource Center, Pump Up the Jam, running out of 3c sheets in the middle of the profiles.

A FRIDAY NIGHT WORKING ON THE LOG

ADS

The Business staff of the 1990 LOG started working at the beginning of the summer selling ads to support the yearbook. By the middle of fall, all the transactions were complete and the student pictures taken. The ads section is one of the most vital parts of the book, since the businesses who buy ads not only support the LOG financially but also insure that the circulation of the book is increased. Students are able to buy space in the ads section as well, giving them a chance to have a picture with all of their friends in the yearbook. The production of the book is not only for the benefit of the Class of 1990, but also for the advantage of the local businesses. This is a relationship of mutual support, since the financial backing from the purchasers of ads sustains the yearbook through its difficult times and the people who see the ads then frequent those businesses.

The patrons of the LOG usually have it available for their patients and customers, and so many more people outside of the high school are able to enjoy the memories of the Class of 1990.

The members of the yearbook staff, along with the rest of the senior class, would like to offer their thanks and appreciation for the following supporters of the 1990 LOG:

*There's a season for beginnings
when the world is fresh and new,
when we shape our dreams
of all the things
we plan and hope to do,
A season
for maturing
when we think and work
and grow,
And a season
for the harvesting
of all we've come to know,
And each successive season grows still richer than the last
as treasures of the present
add to memories of the past.*
